On January 30th, 2019, the Burlington Police responded to the UVM Medical Center for a report of a male who had suffered a non-life-threatening stab wound to his chest. The victim, a 36-year-old male from Colchester, was treated and released. He was uncooperative in the investigation. Detectives nevertheless were able to determine the stabbing occurred in the roadway on Marion Street in Burlington and was the result of an altercation between two males who are known to one another.
