NARRATIVE:

On January 12, 2021, at approximately 9:42 am, the Burlington Police Department responded to calls about a woman who had potentially overdosed at an address in Burlington. Upon arrival they discovered a deceased woman, 28, in a first-floor unit.

Other persons at the address informed police that they were concerned about a second woman at the address, in a second-floor unit. This woman, 37, was found unresponsive. Members of the Burlington Police Department administered naxolone and made efforts at resuscitation. Members of the Burlington Fire Department then arrived and assumed resuscitation efforts but ultimately declared the second individual deceased.

The address houses a transition program for women under the supervision of the Department of Corrections. Detectives with the Burlington Police Department are investigating the provenance and traffic of the suspected narcotics, which are currently believed to have a single source. This investigation is in the earliest stages and is ongoing.
